LIBRARY

CHRIST CHURCH, CANTERBURY

C24C3

OF THIS LIBRARY a Catalogue, as it was entitled, appeared in 1743; but it is merely an alphabetical list of printed books only, without any statement of the place or year in which the books are printed, and without any guide to the shelves on which they had been placed. The present Catalogue, by its twofold arrangement, is intended to inform the reader of most particulars relating to the books, to point out to him their situation in the Library, and at the same time to preserve them in their respective classes.

The Dean and Chapter, desirous to promote the utility of their Library, lately caused it to be carefully examined as well as considerably enlarged; and, in consequence of the examination, several manuscripts were found concealed under a heap of rubbish in a private closet. These manuscripts, having been investigated by some of the Members of the Church, are now deposited (as the subjects of them required) partly in the Chapter Room, and partly in the Library. To the presses in the latter, an addition is thus made of twelve volumes since the publication of a Catalogue of the Manuscripts in this Library, by a Member of the Church, in 1793. Other manuscripts also, since that period, have been presented to the Dean and Chapter. This Library, it may be observed, is rich in manuscript materials relating to the civil and ecclesiastical history of the country, and to Saxon literature in general; as the articles under RECORDS, REGISTERS, and SOMNER, will evince.

ADDITION.

In page 48 of the Catalogue, the third O should be marked O. iii, instead of O. ii; one of the figures having been dropped at the prefs.

In page 103, Add, as follows:

15. The Psalms in English Metre. 4to. London.

This translation is assigned to Archbishop Parker. These psalms were finished in 1557, and a few years afterwards printed. They are supposed by Mr. Warton never to have been published, but that the Archbishop permitted his wife to present the book to some of the nobility. See the Hist. of Eng. Poetry, vol. iii. p. 182, &c. This copy, very curiously bound, was probably given by her to the Church of Canterbury. The book is extremely scarce. Strype, the ecclesiastical historian, relates that he could never obtain a sight of it. At the sale of the books, belonging to the late Dr. Farmer, in 1798, a copy of this work was sold for three pounds six shillings.

33. Alexandri 7 Papæ & Cardinalium Effigies per Joan. Jacob. de Rubeis. fol. Romæ. 1658.

This volume is one of the many curious and valuable presents, made to this library by Dr. John Bargrave, prebendary of the Cathedral: He had been a great traveller; and lived chiefly in Italy during Cromwell's usurpation. On the margins and backs of the engravings in this volume, he has written many curious remarks from printed books and manuscripts, and has added several pleasant and interesting anecdotes, the fruits of his own observation. On the margin of the Pope's picture he has remarked, that this picture, and all the rest following, are extraordinarily like the persons, drawn and cut by excellent hands; I knowing them all by sight (and some by discourse) as well as I knowe any of my brethren the Canons of Chr. Church Canterbury.

- iii. Somner's Observations upon the Commissary of Canterbury's Patent. fol.
Mr. Batteley, in his Preface to the Antiquities of Canterbury, supposes this Discourse to have been the first-fruits of those labours which Somner devoted to the study of Antiquity. It was composed soon after the death of King James I. upon the patent of Commissaryship granted to Sir Nathaniel Brent. It treats of Ecclesiastical Titles, and of the privileges and jurisdictions of Spiritual Courts. Great part of it has been published in his own Antiquities of Canterbury. His information relating to Ecclesiastical Courts, Officers, &c. he acknowledges to have derived from Archbishop Parker's Antiquities of Britain.

The matter was soon after settled by his admission of their presentation.*

At this fifth Jubilee in 1420, the concourse of people is said to have been 100,000; all of whom were well entertained 15 days, the time this Jubilee lasted. It may be remarked that, in the arguments employed by the ambassadours of both countries, the circumstance of the king of England's using the title and arms of France is particularly and minutely discussed.

D. J. I. Ifaaci Casauboni Ephemerides. fol.

This is the Diary of the Life of that eminent Scholar, and Critick, Isaac Casaubon, Prebendary of this Church, written in Latin with his own hand, commencing in the 39th year of his age, and in the year of our Lord 1597. He died in 1614.

The curious and learned reader will be highly gratified by several circumstances, recorded in this volume, respecting classical authors, in the illustration of whom Casaubon had been engaged. Bentley, it has been said, was indulged with the use of this volume. It was probably the gift of Meric Casaubon, son of Isaac; and also a prebendary of this Church. From a passage in this Diary we learn, that Isaac Casaubon, being a layman, received the royal dispensation to hold this prebend.

This very curious manuscript is entitled, "The times whistle or a newe daunce of seven Satires, whereunto are annexed divers other poems comprising things naturall, morall, and theologicall, compiled by _____ gent.

_____ "Septem compacta cicutis"

"Fistula." 2 2

The name of the compiler is, in this first title, erased. He announces the design of these Seven Satires in a long Introduction,

“ From the Rhamnusia goddesse am I sent,
 “ On Sinne t’inflict deserved punishment:
 “ All-seeing Sunne, lend me thy searching eye,
 “ That I may finde, and scourge impietie, &c.”

To these Satires are added “ Certaine Poems, comprising things naturall, morall, and theologicall. Written by R. C. gent.”

From an address prefixed to the Satires, and from another prefixed to the Certaine Poems, it is evident that they were intended for, if not committed to, the press. The former appear, from various allusions to Marston’s Scourge of Villanie, published in 1598, to have been written near that period: Probably they might be suppressed, in consequence of the order towards the close of Elizabeth’s reign, signed by the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of London, that Marston’s Pigmalion’s Image and Certaine Satyres, Hall’s Satires, Snarlinge Satires, &c. should be burnt; and “ that no Satyres or Epigrams be printed hereafter.”

xx, xxi. Somner's Saxon-Latin-English Dictionary, &c. 2 vols. fol.

See before C. ix, x. But this copy is the more curious, as it appears, by the signatures of the compositor, to have been the very copy from which this valuable work was printed.

The Title, Recommendatory Verses, Dedication, Preface, List of Subscribers, and Errata, are here carefully preserved.

xxii. An Account of Lands in the Manor of Wingham, Co. of Kent, paying rents, services, and customs to the Archbishop of Canterbury; containing also a Copy of an Agreement between Archbishop Henry, (uncertain whether Chichelē or Dene, the date being omitted,) and the Tenants, for the payment of certain sums per acre in lieu of these rents, services, and customs in each village; and an Account of the payments due by this agreement. fol.

At the end is inserted a Paper containing the names of the Cinque Ports, with their members and services.

The volume appears, by a memorandum in the last page, to have belonged to Tho. Stoughton of Ash near Sandwich, and to have been written by his father Edw. Stoughton. The dates, 1552, 1553, 1555, 1556, occur in it; and once 1577, which is, however, an accidental and imperfect memorandum, evidently by a different hand.

The mere history of the Scrutiny is printed in Somner's Appendix to his Antiq. of Canterbury, N^o 38.

xxx. Containing,

1. Copy of a Charter of Richard (Becket's immediate successor according to Somner, who died about 1184,) giving 20 pounds a year from the Church of Reculver to Harbledown and St. John's Hospital. Not dated. 4to. membr.

Somner speaks as if he had seen the original, which, he says, was preserved in St. John's Hospital without Northgate; and Battely has printed a copy of it. See Battely's Somner, Part 1. p. 43, and Part ii. Append. N° 35. The present copy professes to be taken from an ancient book at Reculver.

2. Part of a Letter, written, as it should seem, to Dean Bargrave, at the beginning of the great Rebellion.

3. A Letter from Mr. James Huggessen to Mrs. Honoria Jefferay, informing that Burchington Parsonage had been sequestered to the Parliament, and 40 pounds or the value seized for rents. Dated Lynsted 26 April 1644.

4. A curious Letter, very much decayed, to the Dean and Chapter to request that Mr. Darrel might be absent, and receive his dividend (of a Prebend). Dated from Hampton Court 18 Nov.

1567. Subscribing Name not perfect, but seems to be Pembroke.

5. Official Copy of a Decree in the Ecclesiastical Court of a Case of Substraction of Tithes: Dr. Clerke, Vicar of Minster in the Isle of Thanet, con: Allen.

xxx. Diarium Thomæ Cocks a 25^o die Martis Anno Dñi 1607. fol.

This is merely the daily cash account of a private person, who seems to have been Auditor of this Cathedral. If there be any thing curious in this manuscript, (which is much injured by wet,) it is what respects the habits of men and the expences in common life at that time, the prices of things, and the names of certain games either provincial or not now generally understood.

xxxii. Fasti Cantuarienses: Or, The History of the Renowned Cathedral and Metropolitane Church of Christ in Canterbury: A Poem in five Books: By John Boys of Hode-Court. fol. 104 pages.

This Poem appears, by the Preface, to have been intended for the press. It is dedicated to Gilbert [Sheldon] Abp. of Canterbury. The author, it seems, was the intimate friend of Somner.

At the end is a printed "Panegyrick to his Sacred Majesty," Charles II, in verse, by the same author, dated 1662. Other publications by Mr. Boys are also there noticed.

This volume was purchased, at the sale of the late Dr. Osmund Beauvoir, Master of the King's School, Canterbury, by Thomas Park, Esq. F.A.S.; by whom it has been obligingly presented, through the Rev. Mr. Todd, to this Library.

xxxiii. List of authors, with references to their works, who have written concerning the Archbishops of Canterbury; first, of those who have treated of the Archbishops generally; and secondly, of those who have composed single or particular lives. By the late learned and celebrated antiquary, Dr. Sam. Pegge. 4to.

These valuable papers were in the possession of John Nichols, Esq. F.A.S., by whom they were given to the Rev. Mr. Todd, and by Mr. Todd have been presented to this Library.
